

Crime Prevention Through Environmental Design CPTED Jamaica

 Jamaica  Aug 2024 to Aug 2026

ABOUT THE PROJECT

The Pan American Development Foundation (PADF) is implementing a two-year program funded by the Bureau of International Narcotics and Law Enforcement Affairs (INL) to improve the ability of Jamaican stakeholders to address citizen security challenges utilizing Crime Prevention Through Environmental Design (CPTED) methodologies. This project focuses on five target communities in and around Kingston, Western and Central Jamaica. The initiative aims to increase knowledge about CPTED methodologies, implement CPTED focused crime and violence prevention (CVP) programming, and ultimately reduce levels of crime and violence in the targeted areas. PADF will work closely with local stakeholders, including the Jamaica Constabulary Force (JCF), community-based organizations, and youth groups to conduct assessments, deliver training, improve infrastructure, and implement positive youth development opportunities. The project will collaborate with existing initiatives to ensure synergy and maximize impact. This comprehensive approach is designed to strengthen community resilience against crime, increase social cohesion, and offer at-risk youth meaningful opportunities to become engaged and positive contributors to their communities.

STRATEGIC GOALS

- Enhance knowledge and capacity for CPTED methodologies.
- Implement effective CPTED-focused crime and violence prevention programming.

OUR VISION FOR IMPACT

Improved community infrastructure and spaces for crime prevention.

Improved youth engagement and development.

Enhanced knowledge, tools, and capacity for Jamaican stakeholders to apply CPTED methodologies effectively.

KEY FACTS

Donor

U.S. Department of State:
Bureau of International
Narcotics and Law Enforcement
Affairs (INL)

Cut

Partners | Beneficiary Stakeholders

Jamaica Constabulary Force (JCF), Ministry of National Security, Ministry of Education and Youth, Ministry of Justice, and the Planning Institute of Jamaica, Project STAR, RISE Life, MultiCare Youth Foundation, Grace and Staff Foundation.

CONTACT US

Kevin Mills
Director PJS
kmills@padf.org

David Alvarez Veloso
Deputy Director PJS
dalvarez@padf.org